

Mid-Week Ponderings

March 25, 2020

“Be still and know that I am God.” ~ Psalm 46:10

Hi Church Family,

I have asked Leadership Team to provide me with quotes or scripture to share with you each week. This quote came from both Johanna Slygh and Debbie Shank. They both talked about how it provides them comfort.

While we are sheltering in place, some people might be more still, but some people may be working harder than they ever have, trying to help kids with school work, while still working from home; figuring out how to work from home; or simply feeling really isolated from the social things they have always looked forward to doing.

But I have never considered this piece of scripture to be about busy-ness; it is more about trusting that we don't have to worry about things because as I heard in an excellent sermon one time, “God is God and I am not.”

So my mid-week pondering is, “What is something you and I can let go of and allow God to be God?”

Blessings,

Pastor Brooke
